Veronica -

Well, what in the hell can I say? I just can't believe we're going to graduate!!!

Do you realize that we have known each other since 1st grade!

Do you remember
all of the stupid things we used to do? God
we were dumb! And that we can't forget
Ft. Lauderdale! - Just

call me MOM!!!
We've had so much fun! I hope that graduation doesn't mean the end of all that!!! You've been a good friend to me - we've always understood each other!
Maybe it's because
we're both so fucking stupid!!!
You take care of yourself - try to stay out of trouble!

(I'm asking for miracles I know!)

LOVE!!
I LOVE YOU!!!

SEN

-VERONICA-
Good Luck with the papers. Have fun ~~on~~ your winter break.
SAY HELLO EM EASY
David!

From orientation to graduation, high school years are a series of changing images. While every year brings its variations, the 1984-1985 year was unique in the different images visible at Lebanon High School, where 920 students and 55 faculty and staff members attended seven 50-minute periods, 177 days a year.

Conforming to state regulations, students arrived at school for classes beginning one-half hour earlier at 7:30 a.m. The new seven period schedule allowed pupils to take more required and elective courses, and entering freshmen looked ahead to an increase of 42 required credits for graduation, up from this year's 38.

Studying, working, and playing together, Lebanon High School students watched themselves change daily, maturing, developing, and learning in an environment promoting the best in high school education.

Changes visible near and far

Students experienced change not only with high school but in the wider environments of their lives. They said farewell as the Sky-Vue Drive-In closed its gates for the last time. They greeted with excitement the opening of the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis, where many attended football games and marched in band contests.

Several seniors voted in their first presidential election, and all students watched the historic era of the first woman on a major party ticket and the first woman to walk in space.

The input of mass media was reflected daily in changing tastes of fashion, music, and leisure interests which students observed throughout the year.

Graduates face changing future

Since they were struggling freshmen, the seniors of 1984 set their goals toward their 1984 Commencement.

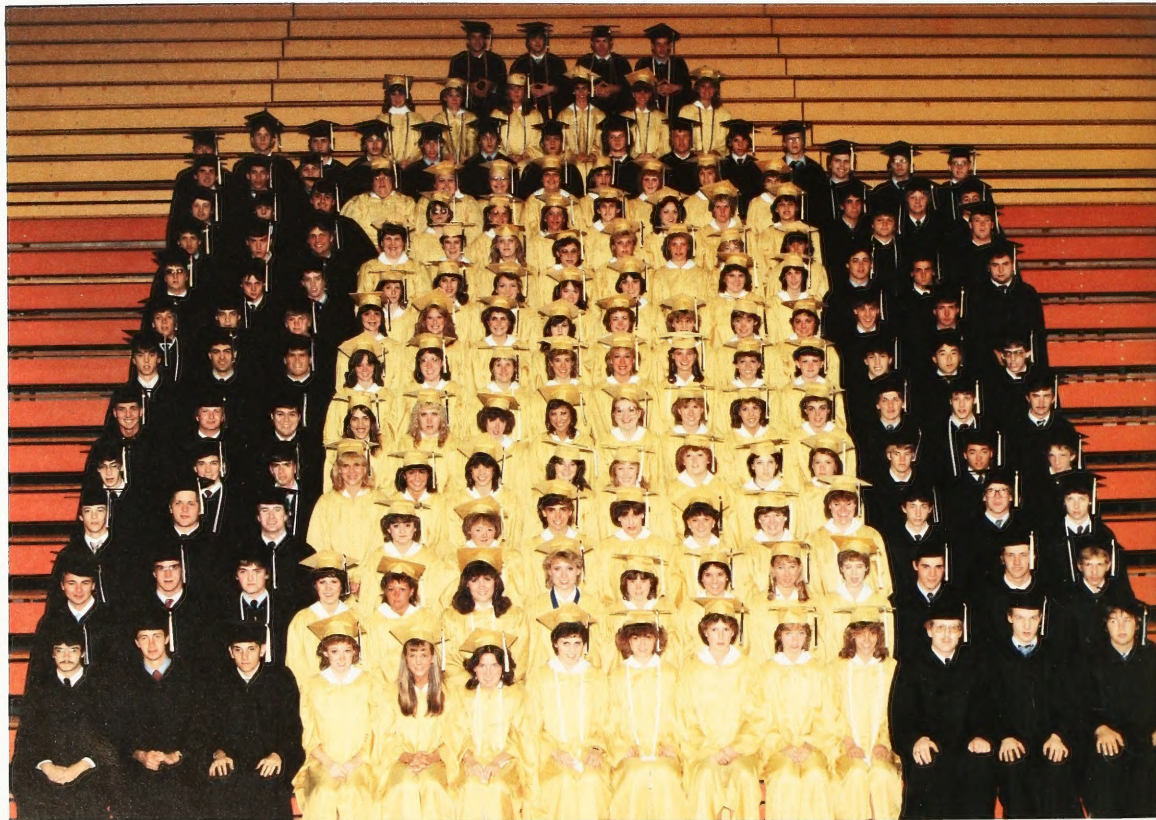

On May 29, 1984, at 2:00 p.m., one hundred and seventy-eight students formed the Commencement procession while the band played "Pomp and Circumstance."

Receiving the prestigious award of Valedictorian was Anita Glasson, while Donna Yanney was named Salutatorian. After both class leaders gave their addresses, the Candelabrum Committee performed their final ritual.

Class officers were president, Mike Beard; vice president, Erin Dulhanty; secretary, Colleen Feldt, and council members, Kathy Barrickman, Joe Venezia and Ed Schilling. Rounding out the Candelabrum Committee were Anita Williams and Jeff Dickerson.

As rewarding as the past four years had been, graduates realized that their diplomas represented their tickets to the future and a changing new life.

Summer stimulates awareness

During the summer months LHS students expanded their horizons by attending various camps and workshops.

Representing the LHS sports program, five wrestlers attended the Top of the World Sports Camp at Bloomington. Female athletes participated in Purdue's basketball and volleyball camps, while Billy Day, athletic trainer, attended a trainers workshop at De-pauw University.

Girls and Boys state at Indiana State University is attended yearly during the summer by selected senior girls and boys to learn more about state and national government.

The LHS journalism students attended Indiana University to better their publications techniques, while the Cedars staff members went to yearbook camp at Hanover.

Musicians were involved in choral and band instructions at Ball State University, Huntington College and Whitewater, Wis.

Traveling even farther away. Social studies teacher John Goodwin escorted six students on a five week tour of Spain and other countries.

CEDARS editors Ann Spitznogle, Karen Revell and Stephanie Campbell compare notes about summer journalism institutes with Pennant editors, Denise Gilmore and Susan Tanselle

GIRLS and Boys State participants are Jeff Moster, Chadd Wheat, Kendra Morton, Donita Hine and Mary Spolyar. Also attending was Scott Sanders.

WRESTLERS Glenn Beasey, Nick Giles, Steve Dodson, Ken Proctor, and David Ford attended Bloomington's Top of the World Sports Camp

MOLLI WILLING, who went to Ball State choir clinic, and Kim Billeter and Mary Spolyar, who attended Purdue's basketball camp, listen to Billy Day's explanation of athletic trainers workshop at Depauw

KATY OBREMSKEY, Karrie Smith and Michelle Byrd were some of the flag corps and band members attending band camp at Huntington College

All dreams come true at prom

"Everybody Has a Dream" was an appropriate theme for the 1984 junior-senior prom, as the traditional event on May 5, 1984 at the Lebanon Armory was a memorable fulfillment of fantasy.

The week before the prom was filled with fun and fatigue for the juniors as they worked hard to turn the armory into a dream land. A huge rainbow hung above the throne while unicorns, sand castles, and hot air balloons decorated the walls.

On the anticipated night, elegantly dressed couples began to arrive and to dance to the music of Judy Everhart and the Indy "5".

Later, Valerie Caylor, 1983 prom queen, presented her crown to Donita Hine. The court consisted of Amy Anderson, Cindy Barrickman, Stephanie Campbell, Missie Hamke, Veronica Orosco, and Mary Spolyar.

The post prom was a flurry of fun-filled activities, all made possible by community support.

Homecoming Spirit Week, "Tigers go for the Gold," kicked off to a great start with everyone bummed out for "sweats day." Winners of the 499 + 1 trike race was Mr. Mitchell's "The Trike."

On Tuesday, "punk day," different colors and shapes of hair and the latest in punk fashions were flaunted.

The all-American red, white, and blue made Wednesday full of spirit while hungry participants enjoyed the Taco Fiesta sponsored by Sunshine.

The junior-sophomore team took the powder puff football game, defeating the seniors and freshmen. Taking the 1984 Homelycoming crown with tears in his eyes was "Preverted Peppermint Pattie," otherwise known as Pat Bellamy. "Her" court was Greg Burnell, Robert Campbell, Don Clark, and Jason Quellhorst.

Hats, glasses, and ties were the spirit category for Thursday, followed by black and gold day on Friday. After the pep session, students rushed to watch the Homecoming parade.

The Tiger Pride opened the 1984 Homecoming evening with their fall show for pregame. The Tigers then began their game against Frankfort with a touchdown by Joe Klingler. During the second quarter Jason Quellhorst made a touchdown, and Robert Campbell ran for the two point conversion. Frankfort next made a touchdown and extra point, leaving the score 14-7 at the half.

At halftime, student council president Mary Spolyar announced Stephanie Campbell as the 1984 Homecoming Queen. Behind the Queen and her court were the class and club floats, with the senior float taking winning honors. After the parade the 1959 football team was introduced.

The Hotdogs scored the only touchdown in the second half, but Lebanon won with a total of 14-13. After the game students jammed at a victory dance.

ACADEMICS

Leaders plan and manage

Elected to the Lebanon Community School Corporation were Miss Margaret Wainwright and Mr. Byron Linton. They joined incumbent board members Mr. Robert Lamb, Mrs. Sharon Walker, and Mr. Gerald Padgett in determining corporation policies. Mr. Robert D. McFrye, Superintendent, Dr. David M. Hutton, Assistant Superintendent, and Mr. Darrell R. Hoyer, Director of Instruction, worked with the school board and high school administrators to facilitate new state laws.

School administration was headed by principal Victor Combs and assistant principals Roger Lochmueller and Will Pullins.

Working at LHS for 10 years, Mr. Combs' responsibilities include working with the faculty and supervising the student body. Holding degrees from Indiana Central and Butler Universities, he planned to complete an Educational degree in 1985.

Assistant Principal Lochmueller directs student activities and is athletic director. Working at Lebanon for 16 years before becoming assistant principal, Mr. Lochmueller attended the University of Evansville, obtained his Masters at Ball State and attended IU-PUI classes this year.

Mr. Pullins has been assistant principal for 13 years, supervising the overall attendance records, building maintenance, and student problems. Active in community service, Mr. Pullins received all his degrees at Purdue University.

ROBERT D. MCFRYE, Superintendent

DR. DAVID M. HUTTON, Asst. Superintendent

DARRELL R. HOYER, Director of Instruction

SERVING on the school board, Byron Linton, Margaret Wainwright, Gerald Padgett, Sharon Walker, and Robert Lamb set school policies and work with district superintendents, principals, teachers and parents

"The new curriculum and graduation guide-lines are realistic. I do not see anything negative about wanting to improve school requirements and helping to better prepare all our students for the future.

Considering the potential of today's young people, we, the educators, must provide them with the best educational opportunities, curriculum, and standards to meet that potential."

Vic Combs

"These changes are part of a national trend which has grown from concern for today's youth in a highly technologically oriented future. The creation of additional opportunities for students in electives as well as in the newly required classes has been an advantage to the total program at LHS. Seeking to improve education through change will make education benefit students."

Will Pullins

"The result of the new changes will not be known for some time. The ideas behind such changes are good but may result in the elimination of many activities which help to improve school morale. The morale of the school has a great impact on the willingness of students to work hard. It also has an impact on potential drop outs and their attitude about remaining in school."

Guidance and support

Students and faculty assisted by capable staff

The Guidance Department assisted LHS students in many ways to help them achieve.

The department organized the before-school orientation program for freshmen and returning students. In addition the guidance staff administered the PSAT to sophomores and juniors, the SAT to juniors and seniors, intelligence tests for freshmen, and the TASK achievement test for sophomores.

Helping freshmen in their career searches, the department presented a Freshmen Career Day in November when business speakers discussed their fields.

Resuming the annual Boone County College Night, the Guidance Department also conducted a year-round program about college requirements and scholarships.

The main office staff of secretaries and aids included Mrs. Marilyn Haughton, who has worked 14 years at LHS, and Mrs. Betty Whitlatch, who has served 15 years. The two secretaries shared the many responsibilities delegated to them by Mr. Combs and Mr. Pullins.

Mrs. Betty Vansickle moved from copy room aid to new duties as secretary to Mr. Roger Lochmueller in the athletic office. New in the copy room were Mrs. Beverly Kettrey and Mrs. Karen Allen, who also supervised Study Halls.

Another important support to the principals and student body was the attendance office, run by Mrs. Janie Reynolds, who monitored 920 students throughout the day. She was also Spirit Club and Junior Class sponsor.

Mrs. Donna Cassell, retiring school nurse, was kept busy assisting students. Mrs. Carol Ehman became the new school nurse second semester.

Business and English

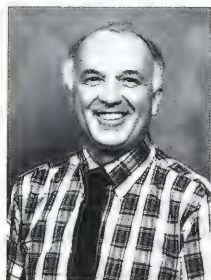

Departments stress basic skills in course variety

The members of the Business staff along with the department's newest member, Mr. Beth Jacobs, provided courses that were beneficial in providing employment after graduation.

Bookkeepers learned the fundamentals of accounting while banking procedures and expenditure records were stressed.

Future secretaries were trained in typing skills, and stenography students were introduced to word structures.

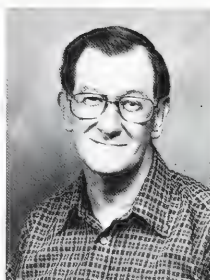

COE (Cooperative Office Education) provided students with on-the-job training which proved worthwhile to students and employers.

The English Department took on several personnel changes this year as Mrs. Becky Pitzer became the new speech and drama teacher, Mrs. Sylvia Patten returned from a leave of absence, and Miss Rebecca Larison shouldered the responsibility of part-time freshman English teacher.

In addition, Mrs. Sally Tanselle coped with the challenge of the Cedars staff, and Mrs. Pam Lochmueller supervised the Pennant staff, both for the first time.

The main objectives of the school year were to introduce the students to newly adopted textbooks and also to accommodate the larger number of students enrolled in English courses as the result of new credit requirements.

Derivatives enrollment went up considerably as more students prepared to take the SAT, while sophomores read George Orwell's 1984 in the year 1984. Seniors were introduced to Huckleberry Finn and The Odyssey, while juniors enjoyed their teacher's renditions of Shakespeare's Hamlet and MacBeth. Sophomores and juniors struggled to compose research papers.

English was an essential link in preparing for college and career opportunities. Courses at all levels strengthened vocabulary, developed writing skills, and emphasized the importance of organizing written ideas.

English classes used poetry, writing papers, skits, novels, and creative writing projects to interest students.

Having 19 computers in the school, 450 students were enrolled in the computer courses offered by the Math Department. The classes had a range from Intro-computer to Computer Programming III. Future plans included more computers and wider usage of them in different departments. The school corporation and various clubs bought the computers for the Math Department.

Student teacher, Mr. Matt Wood from Purdue, assisted Mr. Keith Kincaid, Math Department chairman.

Students learned math on all levels from general math to analytic geometry and calculus, which helped meet requirements for college and graduation.

The Science Department provided students a variety of courses including chemistry, physics, biology, earth science and general science. The department upheld that theories are devised from the observed occurrence and calculations of research.

Chemistry and physics furnished a basis for those students who were concerned with gaining knowledge of the more advanced philosophies of science.

The biology, earth science, and general science courses dealt with plant and animal life, the earth and its raw materials, and essential laboratory experiments. This year, the science department continued a tree planting program on school grounds, using trees donated by service groups.

Foreign Language, Art, and Music

Creativity and culture thrive in classes

To promote interest in foreign customs and educational aspects of language, the Foreign Language Department offered French, German and Spanish. Its curriculum became more culturally oriented and heavily oral, as the 1984-1985 enrollment increased substantially with the seven-period schedule.

Students who took two years of a language also had a choice of continuing their language through advanced classes such as French III and German III and IV.

The Foreign Language Department also provided special opportunities such as students taking a NATG testing program to qualify for a trip to Germany and making Spanish Christmas decorations.

The Art Department taught the fundamentals of drawing, encouraged creativity, and provided pride in individual accomplishments.

Art was offered as a four year course with fourth year students displaying their work in an Art Fair held in the spring.

The Music Department consisted of four choirs, five bands and a guard corps.

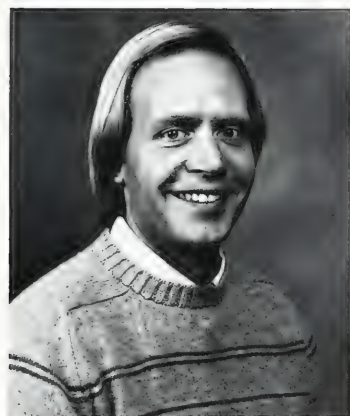

Performances given by the choirs, directed by Mr. John Schmitt, included fall, Christmas, and spring concerts and the annual Madrigal Dinner.

The five bands, all directed by Mr. Scott Robbins, participated in marching band season and Christmas and spring concerts.

The entire Music Department participated in the spring musical, "The Music Man."

Home Economics and Industrial Arts

Practical skills enhanced by basic courses

Home Economics students took part in preparing delicious meals and creating fashionable apparel. Making students aware of the role home economics plays in their everyday lives was emphasized throughout the year.

In addition to daily classroom work students saw a meat cutting demonstration which was performed by the Farm Bureau Coop. Advanced food students prepared, served and cleaned for the annual faculty Christmas dinner.

This year the home economics department added a new class, Marriage and Family Living. Another change was that Mrs. Vicky Zickmund worked with V.E. Co-op for part of the day.

Industrial Arts students were given the opportunity to take courses such as machine shop, wood shop, mechanical drawing, photography and printing.

In the different classes the students were taught how to repair, clean and do check-ups on cars and equipment. They also learned to work with wood, how to weld, and to master drawing and printing techniques.

All school programs and handbooks were printed by students directed by Mr. Jim Maines, who also supervised typesetting and paste-up of the school paper.

The entire Industrial Arts department tried to introduce skills which a student would use in a career setting.

Social Studies and Library

Research, reports require resourcefulness

Understanding man in relation to society, studying values of American society, and understanding U.S. government were the main objectives in the Social Studies Department.

Senior government students enrolled with Mr. Carl Riggs and Mrs. Jean Walsh attended a mock trial at the Boone County Court House. Mr. Riggs' classes also organized and ran a voting table during the presidential election.

The seniors in Mr. Goodwin's Seminar class read and discussed a variety of books from the theories of Karl Marx to Megatrends.

Geography, world history and U.S. history were subjects for the underclassmen, who studied units ranging from the beginning of man to current issues.

Organizing over 14,000 volumes of books, librarian Martha Westfall made the materials center available to the students and faculty throughout the school day. An average of 190 students per day used the materials center, either for their own leisure reading, or for research papers, book reports or homework.

The materials center subscribed to 175 magazines and newspapers, circulated the audio-visual equipment, and had an increase in story and poetry recordings.

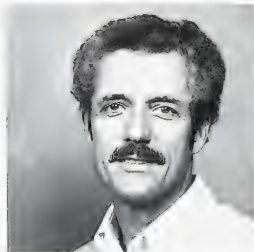

The materials center became especially popular around PSAT and SAT times, carrying many materials to help students prepare for the big tests.

The Special Education Department received two computers used to reinforce drills and comprehend concepts.

One field trip taken was to the Herr Log Cabin in the Memorial Park where students prepared their own Thanksgiving dinner.

The Learning Disabilities program, supervised by Mr. Bob Wolfe, served students who had difficulty maintaining the academic pace of their curriculum. Resources were taped books, oral testing, and individual tutoring.

The primary objective of the Hearing Impaired program was to support students with hearing losses in assimilation into regular classrooms. Mrs. Helen Million worked with classroom teachers to determine goals of each student.

The V.E. Co-op program, under the direction of Mr. John Reed and Mrs. Vicky Zickmund, served handicapped and disadvantaged students with emphasis on preparing them for jobs and life complications after graduation.

Driver's Ed, Health and Safety And P.E.

Personal skills met by varied courses

The bravest teachers at Lebanon High School were Mr. Vic Jones, Mr. Dave Carney, Mr. Jim Mitchell and Mr. Steve Psikula, who daily taught license-hungry sophomores to drive in Driver's Education classes. Mr. Jim Rosenstihl was in charge of teaching students in the classroom.

Because of the additional period in the school day, students no longer had to arrive at 7:00 a.m. to complete their classroom training, thus saving students from the trials and tribulations last year's drivers had to undergo.

Students alternated driving for two days and then spent the next six in the classroom. Each semester's work brought a grade and the long anticipated license.

Health and safety provided students with the knowledge and understanding of the functions of a healthy body and different ways to obtain good health. The department obtained several speakers on various health related topics such as drugs, alcohol, smoking, hearing and speech disabilities, and hospital care.

The LHS cafeteria was one of only two in the entire state that was not on a state program, a fact its staff was very proud of.

Each day started at 6:00 a.m. for three full time cooks, who were joined by seven others who helped with serving and clean-up for an average of 550 students a day.

Another part of the LHS support staff were the custodians, under the direction and supervision of Leroy Breedlove.

The custodial duties included cleaning the building, caring for the lawn, removing snow, and setting up for special events. There were eight people on the janitorial staff and someone was working at all times.

CUSTODIANS include Ivan Padgett, Dianne Fancher, Norma Langolf, Pat Vest and Joyce Taylor

PREPARING MEALS DAILY for hungry students are cafeteria staff Paula Mabbitt, Diane Brown, Loma Schafer, Frances Tinkle, Becky Cline, Phyllis Warren, Diana Love, Janet Summers, Betty Brookie and Shirley Cline

Leaving L.H.S. for leisure life

KNOWN FOR HIS classroom wit, Mr. Garoffolo retires from 29 teaching years

More than an English and Health and Safety teacher at L.H.S., Mr. Joe Garoffolo has also been a coach and friend of hundreds of students in his 29-year teaching career.

Starting in 1956, Mr. Garoffolo was assistant defensive football coach for the Tigers for eight years and became head coach from 1964-1969.

"Mr. Garoffolo has been very instrumental in inspiring, developing and encouraging the youth of Lebanon to pursue excellence in all things that they attempt," stated Principal Vic Combs.

After his retirement, Mr. Garoffolo plans to travel and relax. He will be missed greatly at Lebanon by the students and faculty.

MR. GAROFFOLO HAS WORKED closely with principal Vic Combs

AFTER HELPING STUDENTS AND STAFF for 22 years, Mrs. Donna McConnaha retires from Lebanon schools.

Mrs. Donna McConnaha has been a secretary in the Lebanon School Corporation for 22 years, serving four superintendents and four principals. Starting out in the main office as a secretary, she then moved to the guidance department when it was added.

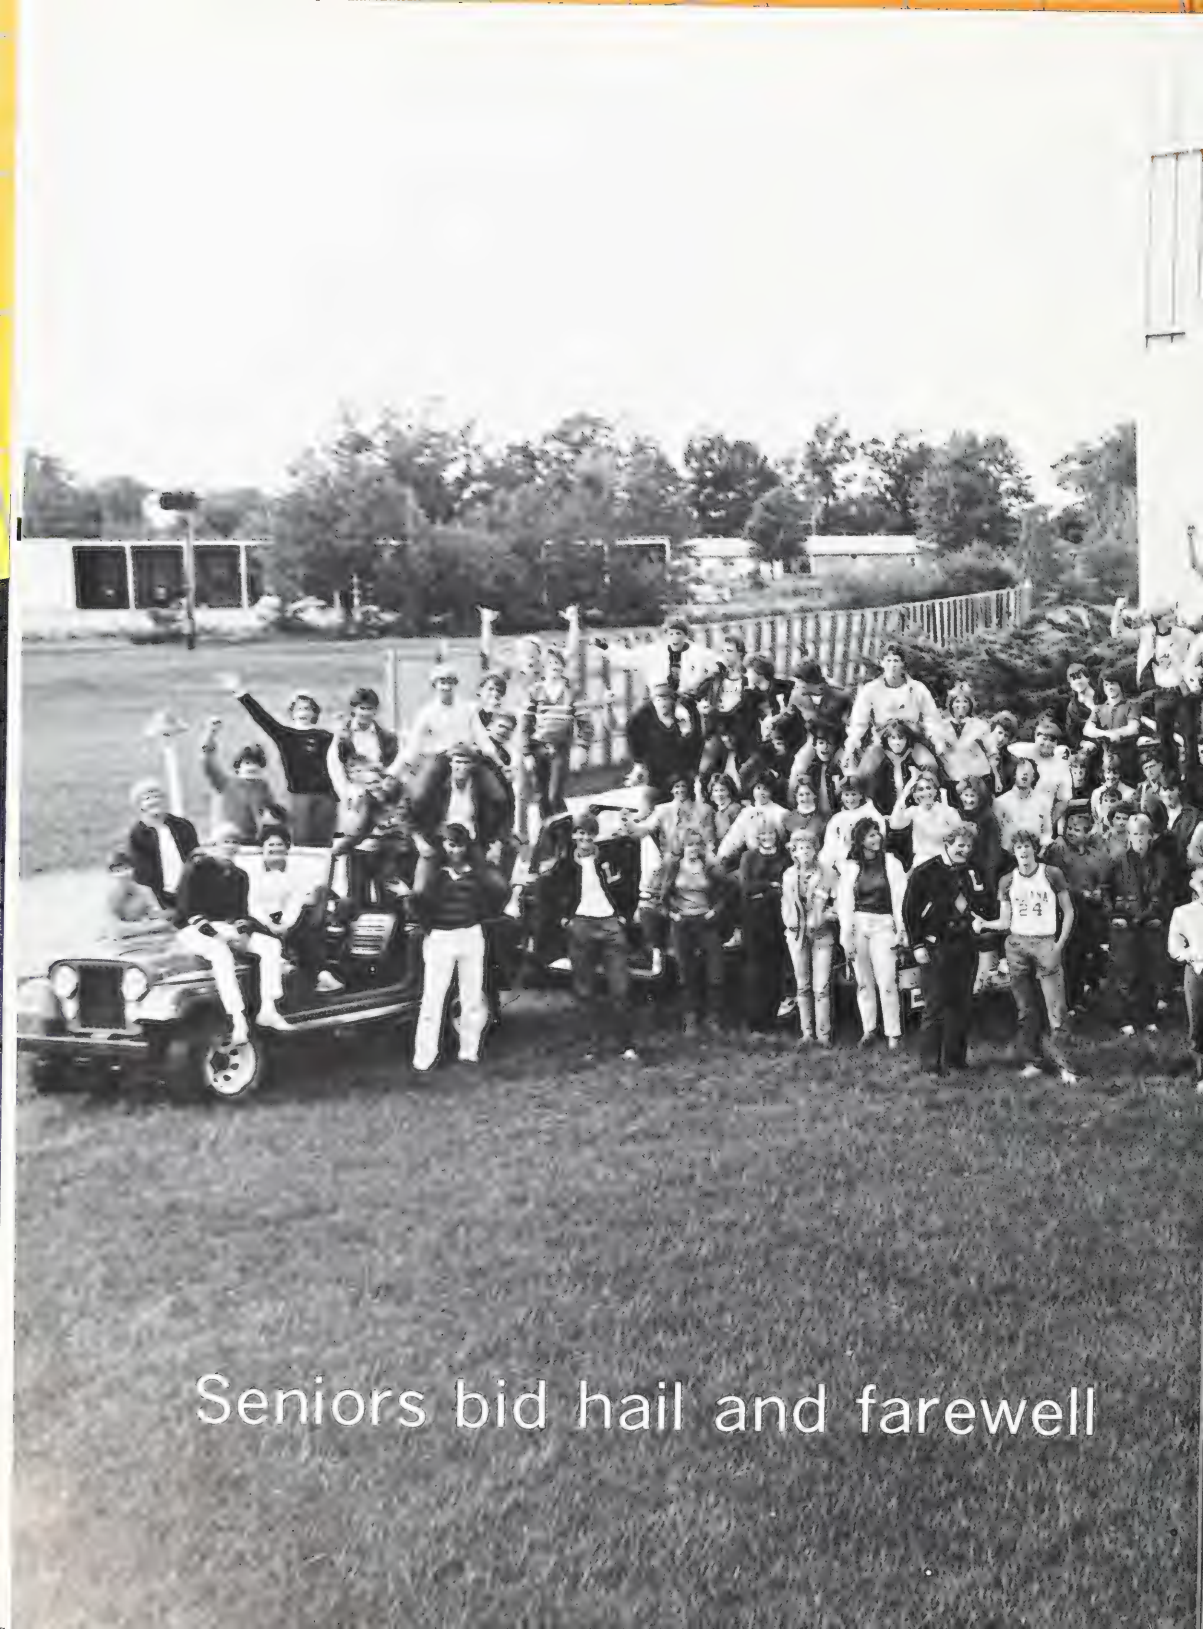

"Mrs. McConnaha means so many things to the daily operation of our school," commented Principal Vic Combs. "Next fall, when all of us return to school, we will know then just how much we miss Mrs. McConnaha."

Mrs. McConnaha plans to pursue many hobbies such as reading, calligraphy, sewing, golf, canoeing, and not having to be on a definite schedule each day. She and her husband plan to travel west and visit relatives in Oregon and Ohio.

Seniors bid hail and farewell

SKY-VUE DRIVE-IN THEATRE
CLASS OF 1985

Seniors carry on traditional events.

The Class of 1985 made a triumphant start into their senior year taking top honors in the float competition. The success of the winning senior float developed from the great efforts of officers and members of the class.

Measuring for caps and gowns and deciding how many commencement invitations to order brought realization that graduation was just around the corner. Each senior began to wonder what paths his life would take.

The school year was highlighted by the traditional Senior Dinner Party held at Ulen Country Club. Over 120 members from the Class of '85 attended the gathering on November 9th.

The memorable event began with Don Lamb, Senior Class president, welcoming the guests, and Jeff Sallee presenting the invocation. The customary Candelabrum Ceremony was presented by the elected committee.

After enjoying a swiss steak dinner, Mistress of Ceremony Susan Tanselle introduced Alysea Belcher who read the class poem entitled "Growing Up", followed by Jennie Hall singing "Home".

Amusing and memorable skits were performed by many talented class members. Closing the evening were Amy Anderson and Susan Tanselle singing "My Wish for You".

Returning from Christmas break, the Class of '85 began feeling a small case of "Senioritis".

Spring break found many seniors traveling to Florida and reluctantly returning to finish their last few school months. Each class member faced attending his last Prom and writing his last English theme.

As "Pomp and Circumstance" began, Don Lamb led the Class of 1985 through the halls of LHS for their last formal walk, a few days before Commencement.

Finally, on May 31 at 7:00 p.m., the Class of 1985 was instructed to prepare to graduate. The moment brought mixed feelings to students as they felt the pride of accomplishment when their diplomas were placed in their hands.

SENIOR CLASS COUNCIL. D. Lamb, C. Barrickman, R. Campbell, M. Spolyar, D. Clark, K. Burroughs, J. Toole, D. Hine, J. Quellhorst, Mc McElwee, Mr. Carmichael, lead class through final year

Juniors have fun, funds

The Junior Class, led by president, Julie Yoder and fellow officers Doug Caylor, vice president, and Kathi Rigerink, secretary, had a successful, productive year. The juniors enjoyed being able to go out to lunch and the challenge of trying to park in the senior parking lot.

The first big event of the year was Homecoming. The junior girls came out on top in the Powder Puff game, and the class float, even though it did not capture first place on Homecoming night, was a winner in the juniors' hearts.

As the year proceeded, juniors began their money making projects for the Junior-Senior Prom, May 18. Industrious Candy-Coke students sold concessions and had a coat check. A new money maker was the sale of L.H.S. jackets.

Through the spring juniors made Prom plans, assisted by class sponsor Janie Reynolds. Weeks of intensive work resulted in a successful Prom.

THE PAUSE THAT REFRESHES. Penny Padgett and Amalie Niednagel catch their breath in a break in powder puff football action

Sophomores spread wings

Highlighting the year for the sophomores was the privilege of receiving their driver's licenses. Soon to follow were dating and a job.

The biggest challenge facing the class was building a float for Homecoming. The sophomores handled that task well with their float which was entitled "Tiger's Are a Perfect Ten", depicting a gymnastic competition at the Olympics.

Academically, this year's sophomore class started to feel the effects of the new state laws requiring more credits to graduate. They also began to concern themselves with the question of what classes they should take in order to prepare for college or post high school training. A record number of sophomores took the PSAT, reflecting the general trend to greater academic emphasis.

SOPHOMORE LEADERS are Kathy Padgett, president; Kris Belknap, vice president; Amy Kincaid, secretary; Trisha Bond and Stacy Psikula, petitionable seats.

"HOW FAST can we drive on the Interstate?" Sophomores Laurie Burgess and David Amezcua listen intently to the recorded discussion on speed limits in driver's education class.

I KNOW! I KNOW! Enthusiastic sophomores try to be first with the correct answers in Miss O'Brien's World History class

Frosh cope, get involved

The Freshman Class, consisting of 281 students, held the distinction of being the biggest class in the school during the 1984-1985 year. Freshman achievements included getting acquainted with high school life and making many friends.

The freshmen coped well, from the first hectic day of not knowing the location of their classes to knowing "everything" about LHS. The class elected Mike Northrop, president; Amy Driesback, vice president; Teresa Williams, secretary and Jack Tanselle and David Ferrell for petitionable seats, all giving their class great representation. With few problems in getting involved, the freshmen participated in various activities such as classes, clubs and sports.

Freshmen captured school spirit by building a float for Homecoming, which was one of the best recent freshman floats.

Cedars records unique year of memories

The Cedars yearbook staff was the largest in yearbook history with 15 senior editors and 10 understudies. Working daily to meet production deadlines, staff members learned a new technical vocabulary and dealt with such tools as croppers, picas, 3-R planners, mini-layout planners and copy sheets. Staffers also tried to be organized and to meet deadlines.

The Cedars was supported well by the student body with a subscription rate of 85 per cent. The book was financially underwritten by subscriptions and advertising revenue from local businesses. Three staff members, Stephanie Campbell, Karen Revell, and Ann Spitznogle, attended a summer yearbook camp at Hanover College, where cover, theme and basic layouts were discussed.

Other new ideas were brought by Josten's plant representative, Mr. Richard Maurer, who instructed the Cedars staff and new adviser Sally Tanselle on creative book design.

Pennant captures contemporary scene

Under the new direction of Mrs. Pam Lochmueller, the Pennant newspaper was expanded from eight to 12 pages, enabling the staff to include more pictures and feature stories for the reader's enjoyment. Photograph collages and creative art were highlights of each issue that was distributed at no cost.

Journalism students not only improved their writing skills but learned the many processes behind newspaper production.

Mr. Jim Maines, production advisor, overlooked camera ready paste-up before the paper was sent to the Lebanon Reporter where it was printed.

Susan Tanselle, editor-in-chief, and Angie Rose, managing editor, were responsible for assigning stories to Journalism I reporters and making certain that each person met his deadline. Special-section editors spent much time making sure that each area of interest in the school and community was covered.

Pennant Staff Editors — First Row: S. Tanselle, editor; A. Rose, managing ed.; P. Lochmueller, advisor. Second Row: J. Maines, S. Sutherlin, assistant sports ed.; M. Service groups' projects aid community

The Lebanon High School Key Club is a male service organization led by sponsor Al Crawford.

The Key Club had many service projects throughout the year including a dance for Muscular Dystrophy, helping with the Chicken Barbeque, and sponsoring the Lebtucky Run. Other projects were the annual popcorn sale, maintaining the bulletin board for school and helping the Kiwanis Club with their annual pancake supper. Two new projects, a blood drive and a jump rope benefit for the Heart Association, topped the long list of Z-Club service projects.

Christmas activities included a food basket for a family and making cookies for teachers. Members also served at the Chamber of Commerce and Sports Booster Dinners.

Adult leadership was provided by Kathleen Huse and Zonta member Kandi Killin.

Key Club — First Row: R. Campbell, J. Quellhorst, B. Duff, treasurer; D. Lamb, president; B. McQuern, vice-president; M. McElwee, J. Garrard, secretary; S. Sanders, J. Moster. Second Row: A. Groups reflect scholarship, leadership

Student Council, sponsored by Mr. Roger Lochmueller and Mrs. Debbie Heck, first worked on making Homecoming a sensational event. The 26 members of Student Council led by president Mary Spolyar, vice-president Cindy Barrickman, and secretary Kathy Burroughs attended a convention at Warren Central High School.

National Honor Society members met once a month to discuss such agenda as the initiation ceremony, College Night and the dance they sponsored. They also helped tutor students. The nineteen members of NHS were led by president Mary Spolyar, vice-president David McKinzie, secretary Susan Tanselle, treasurer, Missie Hamke, and sponsors, Mr. Victor Combs, Mr. Al Crawford and Mr. Keith Kincaid.

NHS members were juniors who ranked in the top 15 percent and seniors who ranked in the top 5 percent of their class.

Active Math Club computes and calculates

The Math Club, headed by president Sam Wood, vice-president Jeff Sallee, secretary Sheri Endres and treasurer Janae Walker, with sponsor Mr. Larry Zickmund, had many activities and money making projects.

Entertainment for meetings was provided by guest speakers. A December meeting presented exchange student, Yoko Negishi, who talked to the club about Japan. The club also sponsored volleyball matches with other clubs.

The Math Club had bake sales throughout the year, a car wash in May, and, similar to other groups, sponsored a dance to making money for their Christmas party and Chicago trip. In Chicago they visited the Museum of Science and Industry and the Adler Planetarium on April 27th.

Two new fund raising projects were raffling off an Atari 1200 computer that was donated by Lowell's Foods. They also started a tutoring course for high school students in need of help in any subject.

Sunshine spreads rays of school service

The Sunshine Society was led by sponsors Margaret O'Brien and Jean Walsh. The group had 75 members and officers were Jennie Hall, president; Lisa Barnett, vice-president; Melanie Hendrickson, treasurer; Debbie Moser, corresponding secretary; and Olga DeLaRosa, recording secretary.

Some of Sunshine's activities during Homecoming were the 499 + 1, the annual trike race, and the taco fiesta, which is held before the Powder Puff game.

Other activities during the year were the Dad-Daughter Banquet, Mother's Tea, and lastly, the May Breakfast which honors the seniors.

Also, each month the members made favors for the teachers and placed them on desks throughout the school.

Money making activities for the group included their annual candy sale. The Sunshine Society used the money for donations to the Riley Fund for Riley Children's Hospital in Indianapolis.

Foreign Language Club keys on cultures

The Foreign Language Club was led by president, Sam Wood, vice president, Kendra Morton and secretary-treasurer, April Burger. Board members were Leslee Tayloe, Maria Burgess, Ann Spitznogle, Lisa Barnett, Chadd Wheat, and Ginger Phillip. The board represented students from Spanish, French, and German classes. Mrs. Nancy Hendrickson, Mrs. Kathleen Huse, and Mrs. Nietta Wright were the sponsors.

A calendar sale, candy sale, and a bake sale were all money making activities with a goal of building a "Language Lab."

Other activities consisted of a Christmas party and carding, and eating at ethnic restaurants. The Foreign Language Fair, sponsored in the spring, encouraged Middle School students to become interested in a foreign language.

YBLL builds better business backgrounds

YBLL, Young Business Leaders of Lebanon, sponsored by all the Business Department teachers, gave business oriented students the opportunity to further their interests in their career fields.

The members of the club each participated in various activities such as helping with the planning of the entertainment and refreshments for the monthly meetings. Other activities included the bulletin boards in the business classrooms and keeping an up-to-date record of the club's activities in the YBLL scrapbook.

YBLL also held special programs which included representatives from three local businesses who explained the operation of their business and how students could become employees.

Officers included president Jason Quellhorst, vice president Robert Campbell, secretary Vickie Sloan, and treasurer Mike McElwee.

Artists and speakers display creativity

The Art Club, under the direction of Mrs. Pam Lochmueller, was an active organization. Members not only gained artistic experience, but also brightened the school with their art showcase, the numerous buttons created and sold for special occasions, the opportunity for students to send Cupid Cables during the Valentine's season, and dances.

The Art Club again captured a first place for the Homecoming car decorating contest. The club also took a field trip to Nashville, Indiana and to the Art Museum in Indianapolis.

The Forensic Club, led by new sponsor Mrs. Becky Pitzer, won many awards for speech competitions. Speaking competitively helped the students strengthen communication skills, eye contact, voice and stage appearance.

Categories which were entered included extemporaneous, speaking, oratory and humorous interpretation.

FHA, OEA extend practical experiences

Future Homemakers of America prepared luncheons for judges of the solo and ensemble music contests in January and February. FHA were hosts of a district meeting and wrapped presents at Christmas for mental health patients.

The group was led by president Deanna McQuern, vice-president Monica Duff, secretary Kim Chatman and treasurer Lisa Hale, with sponsor Mrs. Janet Shipley.

OEA, Office Education Association, promoted busines for nine seniors who received credit for their school work but also maintained half-day jobs.

REGIONAL CONTEST: Division one rating and first place.

STATE CONTEST: First place, Class B.

Pieces unify musical puzzle

Class B State Champions! The Lebanon Tiger Pride, under the direction of Scott B. Robbins, had dreamed of the moment and now it was a reality. On October 20, over 30,000 attended the ISSMA State Finals, held in the new Hoosier Dome. The Dome could scarcely contain the excitement of the Lebanon crowd as the band showed off the trophy, sponsored by Hooks Drugs, the first LHS State trophy in 66 years.

Preparing for the climactic moment began in the summer with long, hot practices, including a week of preparation at the Huntington College band camp.

Besides performing at all of the home football games, the Tiger Pride participated in contests every Saturday throughout marching season.

At the Lawrence Central Invitational, the Tiger Pride placed first overall; that evening at the Plainfield Invitational they took top honors once again. The next week they took second at the Star City Festival.

District contest pushed the band on to regionals as they gained a first division rating enabling a triumphant march to state.

The Tiger Pride also participated in the Grand Nationals Marching Bands of America contest, November 16th at the Hoosier Dome, to close its most successful season.

ELEGANTLY ATTIRED, drum majors Jeff Moster, Elaine Snapp and Chadd Wheat lead the Tiger Pride through a successful season.

Instrumentalists improve skills, trills

After the ISSMA State Marching Band Contest, the band was then divided into two smaller bands, concert and varsity. Both bands performed in concerts throughout the year and also participated in several contests, including a state competition. The members of the varsity band were usually underclassmen or new members who were studying very hard so that someday they too can be a member of the concert band, which consisted of outstanding musicians.

Choruses concentrate on concerts

Lebanon Voices and Choral Ayers were under the direction of John Schmitt. Like Concert Choir, these choirs also participated in the fall, Christmas, and spring pops concerts, as well as several contests. Lebanon Voices was made up mainly of incoming freshmen, preparing the young talents of future performances and concerts. Choral Ayers was an all-girls choir consisting of singers who enjoyed performing musically.

Madrigals recreate Old English USIC

The Madrigal group consisted of 19 members from freshmen to seniors. Under the direction of Mr. John Schmitt, this group practiced many hours after school in preparation for performances such as the Madrigal Dinner and the annual Christmas concert. These many hours of practice paid off when the Madrigals took a first place victory in district and state competition.

As a tradition of the singing group, the Madrigal Dinner was held on Monday, Dec. 10 at the Centenary United Church. Staged as a royal banquet in Renaissance England, the evening portrayed 16th century lifestyles, including beggars, wenches, jesters and royalty.

Madrigals is a style of singing within a small group in which each member is given an individual voice part in a certain number, and the entire number is brought together rhythmically and melodically without any instrumental accompaniment.

Concert Choir presents variety of music

The Lebanon High School concert choir under the direction of John Schmitt sang all types of musical literature. The choir performed a complete Latin Mass in the fall concert. Other performances included a Christmas concert, a spring pops concert, and state contest. The talented choir was also invited to the Butler University Invitational Choral Festival.

Musicians master "Music Man"

This year the LHS Music Department put on the production of "The Music Man", originally written and produced by Meredith Wilson. The play took place in the Mid-West in 1912. The main character, Harold Hill, was a traveling salesman charlatan who could not read music or play an instrument, but nevertheless was the hottest instrument salesman in the Mid-West at that time.

"Professor" Hill arrived in River City, Iowa on the "Rock Island" train, and during his one week stay he convinced the towns people that they needed a big brass band. His motives were dishonest, but he transformed a dull town into a singing and dancing community.

In the beginning he had no difficulty selling instruments for the band. However, a skeptic started questioning and Harold became very unsuccessful.

Harold eventually reformed and completely charmed everyone, especially the beautiful librarian. The musical's concluding scenes showed Harold converting from being a scheming con-man into a reliable citizen.

LET'S HEAR THAT AGAIN! Robin Kenyon and Susan Tanselle listen for the high notes of the musical's barbershop quartet, J. Saalwaechter, K. Newman, J. Smith and J. Tanselle.

Tenders, Timettes total tallies

Proving themselves essential to their respective teams, the Tiger Tenders and Timettes had many important duties. Both groups of girls were selected by a vote of team members.

Two girls from each class were selected by the wrestling team as Tiger Tenders. Under the sponsorship of Miss Margaret O'Brien, Tiger Tenders dedicated many hours to the making of locker signs and banners. At wrestling meets, the girls worked the scoreboard and clock, kept the records, passed out ribbons to the individual winners of each match and encouraged members on to a victory.

The Timettes were elected by members of the boys swim team. Their jobs included making locker signs to promote spirit, running the clock and timing at the boys swim meets. Mrs. Jean Walsh was the sponsor for the Timettes.

Service, spirit characterize groups

Sponsor Janie Reynolds, president Amy Reiss, vice president Kelli Harris and secretary Olga DeLaRosa, along with the entire Spirit Club, provided an extra boost of school enthusiasm.

Members decorated mirrors and hallways during football Homecoming and basketball tournament seasons. Spirit Club also contributed to school excitement with a dance after a football game.

For the first time the group collected food to donate to the community Food Pantry at Christmas.

The money making project was selling miscellaneous family gift items.

The ushers had various duties at every home boys basketball and

Record season for lady netters

Guided by Coach Roy Flanary, the girls tennis team set new records, winning their first sectional and regional titles. The lady netters ended their 1984 schedule with an impressive 12-2 regular season and an overall record of 19-3.

New individual accomplishments included Cari Gidman, number one seed, being nominated for All-State and earning a 14-0 mark for regular season play.

The number one doubles team of Kathy Barrickman and Kelly Gidman went 17-0 for the year while number two doubles team, Veronica Orosco and Vicki Sloan, also set records with a 10-match season win mark.

With five returning lettermen, Coach Flanary was optimistic about a strong 1985 girls tennis season.

Sophomore Mark Cero, named to First Team, All-State, finished second in individual state competition. Junior J.B. Belknap was a member of the Second Team, All-State.

The LHS linksters had an excellent regular season, concluding with a perfect record. The team finished sectional competition with a record setting 298 team score, defeating 13 other teams in tournament play. Cero was medalist with a 71, while Belknap and Scott Osborne finished in the top five with 74's.

Girls dash with flash

Although they struggled through a rough season, the 1984 girls track team had impressive individual performances.

Senior Anita Williams set the school high jump record with an outstanding jump of 5'. Williams represented LHS in the state track meet, placing fifth in the high jump.

Sophomore Kim Billeter also set a new school record in the shot put and discus events with an impressive throw of 38'4" in the shot and 111'5" in the discus.

The girls track team optimistically faced the 1985 season with returning letter winners, Tracey Autrey, Kim Billeter, Julie Fields, Karen Rigterink, Jerri Sussong, Kris Belknap, Amy Kincaid, Jenny Reckel and Debbie Dickerson.

Boys bring home ribbons

The 1984 boys track team fared well with a 7-1 record in dual meets.

In regular season competition, Brian Martin and Joe Venezia were senior medal contributors, while Bob Duff and Kevin Stoner were instrumental in victories. Tim Turner looked sharp as a freshman bringing in several blue ribbons. The steady placement of the two relay teams, comprised mainly of underclassmen, also contributed to team success.

The team finished 10th in sectionals at Lafayette Jeff. Individually, Todd Jones advanced to regionals in the shot put, and he was joined there by Mike McElwee in the 100m dash.

The 1985 team continued well in individual performances and hoped for even stronger sectional finishes.

Pitching leads to victories

Led by the strong pitching of seniors Marty Heick and Steve Spolyar, the 1984 varsity baseball team amassed a respectable record of 13-9.

Several regular season games were postponed, making it hard to complete the season. However, when the Tiger nine did get to play, their presence was felt. Strong play was exhibited by seniors Sam Myers and Randy Moore, by junior David McKinzie, by sophomores Steve Johnson and Mike Wood, and creating high expectations for future years, Jim Buchanan, a freshman.

The Tigers finished conference play with a 9-1 record, with several LHS players recognized all-conference. The Tigers lost in the sectional to a tough Brebeuf team 4-0.

Reserves develop for varsity

Although the reserve baseball team finished with a record of 6 wins and 7 losses, the season was far from disappointing. Working with development as their major goal, the team achieved a great deal of success.

By season's end, three players from the JV team improved to the point that they started for the varsity in the Lebanon Sectional, and all three performed exceptionally well.

Strong individual performances were turned in by Jim Buchanan, Rod Dale and Scott Plass. Plass led with the RBI percentages and Steve Johnson's pitching throughout the season was also a great asset to the team.

The team should improve overall the next two years with four sophomores, Scott Burruss, Tim Turner, Gary Cobb, and Brad Jedwabney returning. Duff, named to Second Team, All Conference, is the only senior next year's team will lose.

With runners coming up from the new Middle School program, future teams can go nowhere but up.

Schedule hassles football team

Problems hampered the goals of head coach Steve Psikula and his squad as several injuries and a tough schedule became contributing factors in the varsity football team's season record of 3 and 7.

Highlight of the season was the trouncing of third-ranked McCutcheon. Strong defense and a good running game gave the Tigers a 26-14 victory.

Meeting traditional rivals Frankfort and Western Boone, the Tiger gridders also demonstrated winning ways with a Homecoming and a final game victory.

Named to the All-Sagamore Conference first team were Joe Osborne, Jason Quellhorst and Robert Campbell. Listed on the second Sagamore team were Don Clark, Tim Welch, Jeff Toole and Mike McElwee.

Hard work refines reserve play

The reserve football team, though having a tough season of 0-4-2, accomplished their number one goals, playing many people and gaining experience.

A close game with Brownsburg and a come-from-behind tie with North Montgomery were two outstanding events of the season.

Highlighting individual play for the reserves was sophomore Tom Hale, who later in the season directed the varsity. Jeff Fortner, who was already experienced, was a stabilizing force on the field.

The reserves were coached by Bob Wilhite, in his fourth year with the team. He anticipated this year's experience for the reserve players should benefit the varsity next year.

Freshmen play with spirit

The 1984 Freshman Football team finished the season with a 1-5 record season. Though the young gridders lacked numbers there was no shortage of spirit and determination, with the players giving their all until the last second of each game. Much of this spirit was accredited to coaches Jim Immel and Bill Bowen, who exhibited endless encouragement and patience.

The team was led by captains Chad Miller and Chad Sloan, with Sloan's 70-yard kick-off return for a touchdown against Danville one of the individual highlights of the season. Top rushers for the team were Miller and Mike Gill. Outstanding tacklers were Matt Riddle and Sloan, along with Wade Puckett and Jay Samuelson at the interior line.

84-85: Best boys tennis season

The boys tennis team, coached by Roy Flanary, ended their most victorious season with a record of 16 wins and 3 losses.

The Lebanon Tiger netters completed their Sagamore Conference with a 5-0 record and had three players, Mike Hensley, Brent Keller, and Craig Davidson, named to the first conference team. Chosen for the second team were Jim Garrard and Brett Isenhower, who alternated at first team doubles play with Donaldson.

Accomplishing the milestone achievement of coaching 100 match victories, Coach Flanary was honored at a special recognition night at Lawrence Central High School.

Losing only seniors Kevin Amick and Mike Hensley, Coach Flanary looked forward to another strong team with five lettermen returning in 1985. Vying for top-seeded positions on the 1985 squad will be Jay Albertson, Nick Rubadeau and Scott Chinn, who will team with promising junior varsity players.

The Lady Tigers consisted of returning senior letter winners Cindy Barrickman, Lisa Cline and Donita Hine. Juniors were Kim Billeter, Kathi Rigerink, Missy Stapleton, and Tracy Autrey.

The reserve team had a record of 4 wins and 10 losses. High expectations await the 1985 volleyball season as skill and experience develop in potential future varsity spikers, Rhonda Allen, Kim Weaver and Erika Zachery.

The later part of the season, the team also successfully hosted a four team volleyball tourney won by Clinton Prairie, eventual state champions.

Girl swimmers work diligently

Led by new coaches Larry Brown and Kathy Erskine, the girls swim team thread through tough early morning practices to be "a stroke above the rest". Co-captains Sandy Dickerson and Lori Sutton provided inspiration.

A splashing season saw the team meet various individual goals as Kim Nelson and Stephanie Psikula were the top swimmers in the 500, Lori Sutton swam her personal best time in the 50-yard freestyle and Karen Rigterink set a new record of 1:16 in the breast stroke.

Veteran swimmers Stacy Psikula and Lisa Fregeau contributed enthusiasm and strength to the team. Returning divers Amy McCutchan and Sandy Dickerson had a climactic season, with Dickerson maintaining her record of 301 points out of 11 dives.

The team accomplished this while under the direction of a new coach, Amy Gillan, and by practicing daily at Ulen Country Club.

The linksters had a season record of seven wins, four losses and a conference record of two wins, zero losses. Mary Spolyar, team captain, lost only one of her regular matches this season.

Lettering again this year were four-year varsity seniors Spolyar, Susan Tanselle and Katy McClure, and junior Julie Young. Also lettering for her first time was freshman Becky Clark.

Young team struggles on mats

The 1984-85 wrestling team, under the direction of coach Vic Jones, ended their season with a 5 win, 6 loss record. Each individual worked hard to develop to his personal highest potential. As a result, senior Ken Proctor finished with an undefeated dual meet record of 10-0 and an outstanding season record of 18-4. Senior Nick Giles, in the 119 lb. weight class, celebrated a victory in the Columbus invitational championship and was runner-up at the Sagamore Conference. Other individual accomplishments were Regional qualifiers David Ford, Todd Padgett, Chris Mabbitt and Steve Dodson.

In 1986 the Tigers will lose three strong senior wrestlers including Giles, Proctor and Jeff Kaser.

Sharks establish winning trend

CRAIG HOWE, senior swimmer, contributes his freestyle technique to winning swim season.

The boys swimming team, led by coaches Larry Brown and Kathy Erskine, finished with the first winning season in several years.

Individually, the tiger sharks had three conference champions, set six records and boasted two sectional champions. Some of the outstanding individuals were Scott Sanders, 200 free style record setter; Jeff Titus, conference champ; Rob Bell, Kip McGinnis, Scott Montgomery, and Mike Cunningham, 200 Medley Relay record setters, and Matt Harmon, establishing an individual diving record.

Coach Brown was proud of the swim team because of their good attitude and consistency. "I could always depend on them to give it their best shot," said Mr. Brown.

For the second time in 10 years, the Lady Tigers captured the Western Boone Sectional championship. The team climbed from an eight point hole in the final four minutes to overtime, where they slipped passed the Southmont Mounties for the title. In addition to balanced group effort, the games were highlighted with the individual play of Mary Spolyar, Kim Billeter and Tracy Autrey, with Spolyar and Billeter named to the All-Sectional Team.

Victory earned the ladies a trip to the North Montgomery Regional, where they met defeat by the Lafayette Jefferson Broncos.

The Tigers finished the season with a record of 10 wins and seven losses. Occasionally having trouble getting on the board early, the Lady Tigers still beat two of the top ranked teams in the state, Brebeuf and Harrison.

Top scorer Spolyar was ranked third in the metropolitan Indianapolis area, averaging 21.8 points per game with an individual high for the season of 43 points.

Freshmen improve over season

The Freshman basketball team had a 11-8 season. Veteran coach Ken Recher commented that team goals were, "to make as much improvement as possible." He felt that almost every boy became a better player over the season.

The team's best qualities, according to the coach, were being able to improve themselves individually while also improving as a team.

Outstanding players of the team were Jeff McClaine, leading scorer, David Ferrell, leading rebounder, and Bobby Limp, skillful ball handler.

The team's best game was played against Frankfort in the Freshman Tourney on the home court. Contributing to their victory were shooting well, a good defense and playing well as a team.

The 1984-85 Reserve Basketball team, under coach Dave Carney in his fifth year at the helm, had an excellent year with a record of 15-4, keeping up with Reserve teams of the past which have consistently turned in good records. Coach Carney credits this to "players who have natural ability and who, through dedication to improvement, have spent the time necessary to be successful."

Rick Kuster led the team this year, and he saw some varsity experience also. Chris Reese, Jim Buchanan and Larry Williams were also major factors in the winning season. Although the hard work of the Reserve players often went unnoticed, their consistent efforts, nevertheless, resulted in the continuation of a strong feeder system for the varsity.

Tigers beat top-ranked teams

The varsity basketball team was led by four-year starter and leading scorer, Joe Klingler, along with senior Todd Byrd, the leading rebounder. J.B. Belknap, another senior, and Jeff Linton, a junior, also were constant starters throughout the year.

The Tigers had a few tough games in the earlier part of the season, losing by a point or two to top teams like East Chicago Washington and Lafayette Jeff. Playing a rugged schedule, the hoopsters racked up a commendable 13-6 record.

Thirty-four year coaching veteran Jim Rosenstihl felt that the team's best game of the season was its hard-fought victory over traditional rival Frankfort in December.

QUICKNESS EXEMPLIFIED, Joe Klingler drives past a defender toward the basket. TODD BYRD AND JEFF MOSTER set up for a "bound."

Tigers face tourney turbulence

The varsity basketball team, coached by Jim Rosenstihl, hosted the 1985 Sectional and first went up against the Western Boone Stars. The Tigers slipped past the tenacious Stars by a decent margin of 64-52.

In the second Sectional game, the Tigers defeated the Zionsville Eagles by the score of 64-50. The victory saw the team leading with their speed and shooting.

The winning Tigers next traveled to the Frankfort Regional Tournament, where they first took on the Crawfordsville Athenians. The gold and black overcame the height and strength of the Athenians for a well-earned victory of 64-58. The Tigers dazzled their fans with a sizzling 68 percent shooting from the field. All players contributed to an outstanding tournament performance.

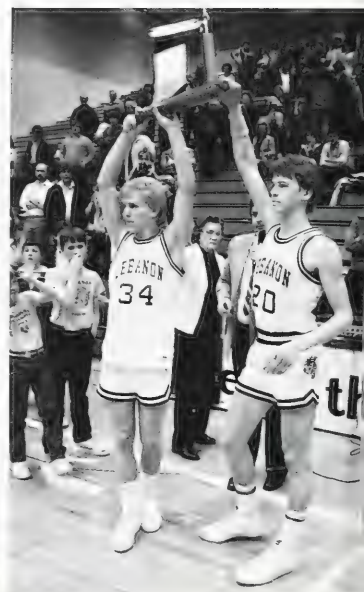

Shooting well from the field but poorly for the few free throws accorded, the Tigers fell to Frankfort, 72-60 in the final contest of the Frankfort Regional. The hard driving LHS team played evenly against their traditional opponents until the final moments of the game, when free-throw performance finalized the outcome.

VETERAN LHS COACH Jim Rosenstihl offers post-game commentary to WNON's Doug Huse.

Squads aid crowd zest

Capturing the Tiger spirit, firing up the team and crowd and pursuing perfection were the qualities which define an LHS cheerleader.

The varsity, reserve and freshman squads took various honors. With the help of their sponsor, Peggy Hulse, and combining the varsity and reserve squads, the cheerleaders took sixth place in the Cheerleading State Fair Competition.

During the summer at Ball State University's UCA Cheerleading Camp, the reserve squads received an "Award of Excellence" for the best chant. The freshman squad, led by their sponsor, Sherry Kays, received the same honor for the best cheer. All squads took home a Spirit Stick for showing their spirit.

The girls basketball cheerleaders contributed spirit and encouragement for the team.

Candid Images

Parting images

The 1984-85 school year was the era of Cabbage Patch dolls, jean jackets and suntan beds. Along with these new images came the changing images of the CEDARS. The yearbook changed format, varied graphics and put more emphasis on copy. Each staff member had to rely on each other to meet hectic deadlines. When everything seemed to be tense a staff member would make a joke and lighten the situation. Titus Bakery was the main form of nourishment and joy, giving staffers the energy to carry on.

The staff consisted of a most unlikely group in the beginning, most of us not knowing each other well. However, after working together we got to know each member in a special way!

Mrs. Tanselle, the new adviser, had to learn to deal with this "gnarly" group and put up with our constant harassment. When everything was about to fall apart we would get a visit from Dick Maurer who would always have a corny joke and put us all at ease offering his assistance. Understudies are an important part of any production but particularly of the CEDARS. This book could not have been successfully published without the work and cooperation of these people. The photographers also deserve special acknowledgement for the time spent after school taking pictures and the nagging from the Editors.

I'd like to give each CEDARS staffer a hug along with a big thanks for pulling together to produce this book and for adding something special to my high school memories.

LOCKED IN BY DEMANDING DEADLINES, the gnarly CEDARS crew broke out in shouts of joy when they were unleashed upon finishing the final deadline.

Colophon

The 825 copies of the 192-page 1985 CEDARS represented the efforts of 25 staff members and adviser Sally Tanselle. The 9x12 book was produced by the Printing and Publishing Division of Josten's, Clarksville, Tenn., whose plant consultant was Tae Eaton. Staff members were assisted locally by Josten's representative, R.S. Maurer, Carmel, IN.

The yearbook cover was produced with 4 color process art, with final art by Josten's Creative Services, Joey Walton, artist. The cover was printed on white Arco material, and binding was Smyth sewed. Endsheets were 60 pound soft yellow transicolor, while the book was printed on 80 pound high gloss finish, consolidated offset enamel.

Captions, body copy, subheads, headlines and division page heads were set in News Gothic type. Staff submitted copy on 3-C sheets, which was type set at Clarksville, utilizing an Autologic APS-5C photoelectronic type system, with IBM OCR (Optical Character Recognition) and Log E processor.

Black and white prints were printed with a 133 line screen using a Miller 2/color Perfector Press (Offset Lithography) All 4 color pictures were color separated on a Hell HC 300 Laser Scanner with an electronically generated dot pattern, and printed on an MGD Rockwell 4 color offset press.

Color photography, senior portraits, and certain candid photographs were produced by Bill Cripe Studio, Zionsville, IN. Photographic assistance was also provided by Kandi Killin, the Lebanon Reporter; and Dave Orr, LHS. Index copy was type set in the LHS print shop under the supervision of Jim Maines, corporation printer.
